Description

Plumber's torch 5200: a butane soldering and plumbing torch with accessories
With this plumber's torch Guilbert Express proves yet again that even a basic plumbing torch, properly designed, can become among the best of its kind in a very short time.

Even more so when it is equipped with "Express accessories" that have built the brand's reputation worldwide!

This plumber's torch delivers ease of use and ergonomics that make it the envy of any competing products: it features the famous Cercoflam butane soldering torch accessory. This offers exceptional performance, with temperatures of up to 2400°C or 4352°F, plus a flat flame paint burner.

Very lightweight and especially easy to handle, this butane soldering torch will please all those who wish to acquire a plumber's torch that is not only high performance, but whose superb value for money places it among the very best available in today's market.

This product is available for sale online and can be delivered to you within 72 hours of receipt of your payment.
